

FUTURELABS

— VENTURES —

FutureLabs Ventures is a new breed of venture builder & VC focused on co-creating and scaling the next generation of B2B tech ventures in partnership with corporates.

We deliver exceptional results by drawing from our in-house team of achieved entrepreneurs and corporate innovators (Talent), our deep experience from having scaled a portfolio of 30+ tech ventures (Tech), and our own financial capital (Venture Capital).

We build B2B technology businesses by transcending industry boundaries, technologies & specialisms, and by bringing together the best practices of both corporates and startups. In this new Ecosystem Venturing model we bring a hands-on business building approach and sponsor new models of engagement between all market participants. We build entire platforms with consortia of partners where existing notions of competition and organisational size & scale become irrelevant.

Through our Malaysian office we co-create new companies jointly with corporates and act as an operating partner to B2B technology start-ups which look to scale into global players. FutureLabs seeks to contribute to the current wave of innovation coming out of the Malaysian tech ecosystem and add to Malaysia's standing as a leading tech hub. We are building Centres of Excellence (CoE) in Malaysia to create multiplier effect of our global expertise by training the next generation of Malaysian technologists and entrepreneurs.

FutureLabs Ventures was founded by former Founding Partners of McKinsey Ventures and serial entrepreneurs. FutureLabs has offices across Asia and Europe, with a granular network in all key local innovation ecosystems, from Silicon Valley to Shanghai, London to New York, and now Kuala Lumpur.
